It's a new financial year with a reformed federal government.

With recent national and global economic uncertainty, falling interest rates and early days of the a Coalition Government, we ask "What's instore for WA?".

As credit professionals understanding recent and emerging trends and a shifting political landscape is vital to how you manage your companies credit exposures.

To answer these questions the WA Credit Community welcomes Bankwest's Chief Economist Alan Langford. Alan will also discuss what impacts WA businesses can expect going into the new financial year.
